

Clichés, Memes, and Euphemisms in Healthcare

Far too often we use words without clarity.

Or, we assume our meaning is the same as other's.

At other times, we use words to signal rather than to deepen understanding or participate in shared inquiry.

In politics especially, this is frequently the case.

And yet, our best chance at inventing solutions which heal rather than divide is through authentic communication.

As a first step in up-grading our conversations, please help me identify explore the clichés, memes and euphemisms in our current debate over healthcare, and maybe even create 5th field conversations in the world of Adult as Possibility.
