About

November 29th is Giving Tuesday.

Your donation will enable BRI to gain even more ground for healthcare freedom.

Greetings!

November 22, 2016

Looking back over 2016 with pride and gratitude for all that our committed medical students and supporters have accomplished, I have never felt as strongly as I do now that continued engagement in the cause of healthcare policy reform is paying off--and this work merits our ongoing commitment and focus.

Now more than ever, we have an opportunity to repeal the Affordable Care Act. The ACA is not living up to its promise of better medical care for more people at lower costs. It is also creating a burdensome regulatory climate that is burying doctors and healthcare professionals in paperwork, taking them away from caring for their patients.

Is that what you envision for yourself when you practice medicine? Is this the experience you want when you go to visit your doctor? Many doctors are saying, NO! and are leaving the profession. This is a tragedy for us all -- doctors and patients alike.

You can help us end the ACA and promote healthcare solutions that actually DO provide better, affordable medical care.

Your memberships and contributions help BRI inform medical students about the joy and promise of healthcare when practiced in an atmosphere of freedom.

Have a question about membership?

There are many benefits to being a BRI member beyond knowing that you are part of the only organization in the United States committed to informing medical students--our future doctors--about the joys and promise of medicine practiced in an environment where doctors are not subject to onerous bureaucracy and regulation.

For as little as $25 for an entire year, you can join BRI and help move positive healthcare solutions forward.

Looking Back . . .

In our complete 2016 End of Year Report you will see all the debates, lectures, conferences and journal club meetings held thanks to your generous support. We have also been able to send deserving medical students on scholarship to healthcare policy conferences to further their understanding and commitment to healthcare freedom thanks to financial gifts from people like you.

Please renew your membership now, and consider making an additional donation to help us continue our important work.

READ THE REPORT

In 2013, BRI's first leadership conference was in Philadelphia with a small room of students. Last year in Washington, DC we held our largest conference to date with almost 50 students. The word is getting out: Medicine practiced in freedom provides higher quality healthcare, for more people, at less cost, and with greater patient and doctor satisfaction.

We want that for everyone, forever. Please be part of our movement.
