BRI med students' (other) favorite conference is coming up in August!

2017 FMMA Conference

Scholarship wait list now open.

Greetings!

The Free Market Medicine Association's annual conference is always a highlight for BRI student members. Attendees leave invigorated with possibility for their future careers as doctors, and with hope for being able to be instrumental in creating a healthcare system that honors patients, doctors, and the patient-doctor relationship.

It is our honor to send several deserving students to this conference every year.

This year, due to limited funds, BRI was only able to accept four students to the 2017 FMMA conference so far; however, FMMA has announced further fundraising efforts. In the hopes that these efforts will yield additional funds, we are now opening a scholarship wait list to students who want to attend this conference.

GET MORE INFO & REGISTER NOW!

To put yourself on the FMMA scholarship waiting list:

1. Become a BRI member if you are not already.
2. Fill in BRI's Conference and Event Scholarship Application.

It's that simple!

Notes:

- Scholarship priority will be given to those who have not yet attended a conference.
- One attendee per school.
- It will be helpful if you can pay any part of your attendance, i.e. local transportation, stay with family, friends or less expensive AirBnB, or be willing to triple or quad in a hotel room, etc.

We will notify you of your acceptance as soon as possible and will take care of your registration at that point.

Good luck!
