Behind every great BRI conference is the Host Campus team that makes it happen. This year's host team has been working really hard since September to make sure we're going to have another winner conference!

Meet your A-Team!

Because we've had several active Ohio university chapters this year, The Ohio State University Medical Center (OSUMC), Ohio University Heritage College of Osteopathic Medicine-Dublin and -Athens (OU-HCOM) are working together on "LC-6."

CONFERENCE INFORMATION

BRI Welcome Reception with Dr. Robert Graboyes

We are pleased to welcome Dr. Robert Graboyes as featured speaker at the Conference Welcome Reception.

Thursday, 3/8/18 6:30pm.

Dr. Graboyes is a favorite speaker at BRI events. His deep understanding of economics and entrepreneurship make him uniquely qualified to speak on how patients benefit when market forces are allowed to operate in freedom.

If you are a local physician or medical student not attending the entire BRI Leadership Conference and are interested in attending the Welcome Reception, please email Charlotte Monte, charlotte@benjaminrushinstitute.org, or Beth Haynes, beth@benjaminrushinstitute.org.

We are grateful to Liberty HealthShare for sponsoring this year's Welcome Reception!

If you know deserving medical students who would be interested in being with us, please use the FORWARD button at the bottom of this email to spread the word.

If you are a medical student interested in healthcare policy, please take a few minutes and send in an application.

Thank you deeply for your partnership,

HELP A DESERVING MEDICAL STUDENT ATTEND THE LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE!

It costs $1000 to host a medical student at BRI's Leadership Conference. If you are able to support a student to attend by donating any amount, we'd be very grateful. Every additional donation helps us bring more students to the conference to be exposed to free market, limited government solutions to healthcare policy and medical delivery models, like Direct Primary Care.
