Benjamin Rush INSTITUTE

Now that summer is upon us and most medical students are taking a well-deserved break, the BRI staff already is preparing for the fall semester. There will be new chapters, new faces, and new opportunities. Let's get you up to date.

Cristian Villegas Joins BRI—As BRI's new Director of Programs, Cris brings a robust background in coalition building and chapter development. Don't hesitate to reach out to Cris— you may reach him at cris@benjaminrushinstitute.org.

BRI Internships:
Rufus Sweeney, University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health, will produce BRI's NEXGENMED podcast. NexGenMed is available via Amazon Music or at the BRI website, NEXGENMED, and soon will be available on Spotify. If you would like to be a guest or have someone you would like to hear for an upcoming episode, simply complete the form and we will get back with you as soon as possible.

Cleumy Gama, a student at Liberty University of Osteopathic Medicine, will host BRI's popular Virtual Event Series (VES). These episodes are available on the BRI YouTube channel. Subscribe and listen to some interesting insights into a multitude of topics focusing on free enterprise medicine and the doctor-patient relationship. If you would like to be a guest or have someone you would like to hear for an upcoming episode, simply complete the form and we will get back with you as soon as possible.

Recent Member Scholarship Opportunities:
BRI teamed up with Dr. Keith Smith to host 12 students at the recent Free Market Medical Association (FMMA) Annual Meeting in Fort Worth, TX in May. These students were able to attend sessions and network with doctors from across the country. Thank you, Dr. Smith, and FMMA!

FMMA Event in Newport News, VA:
The Benjamin Rush Institute also was honored to participate in the inaugural meeting of the Virginia chapter of the Free Market Medical Association (FMMA) at the Coastal Virginia Surgery Center in Newport News. Congratulations to John Woodworth, Dr. James Tinsley, and many others for the successful event.

Legislative Report:
Brian Williams, BRI's Legislative Director, has provided an easy and up-to-the-minute legislative update with information from the Beltway and around the States. Download the complete report.

Donate to BRI:
It's as simple as designating BRI as your charity of choice on AmazonSmile program. It costs you nothing, and AmazonSmile will deposit a portion of your purchases directly to BRI for the items you are already purchasing through Amazon.

Our mission is to educate medical students on free enterprise solutions that promote the doctor-patient relationship. The future of medicine – our medical students – must be educated on how policies, laws, and regulations of today will affect the future of medicine and their professions. That's where BRI steps in.

Consider supporting Benjamin Rush Institute. BRI is a 501(c)(3) organization. Your donation is tax-deductible.

Donate ONLINE, or by MAIL - P.O. Box 610-001, DFW Airport, TX 75261-0001.

We must have your support to continue these important programs, especially as we grow. Your support has never been more critical to medical education nor more vital for BRI to continue to thrive.
